

Celebrating lowa City's Rich Literary Tradition and Local Writing Talent

Submission deadline: Friday, February 7, 2020 by 5 p.m. Selected poets will see their works publicly displayed throughout lowa City. Writers of all ages are encouraged to submit! Go to www.icgov.org/pip for submission rules and application.

For more information contact: Marcia Bollinger Iowa City Public Art Program 410 E. Washington Street, Iowa City, IA 52240 Phone: 319-356-5237 E-mail: marcia-bollinger@iowa-city.org www.icgov.org/pip

Now Accepting Submissions for 2020!

6 29 2018

this morning I mistook my streetlight shining through the Summer leaves for the full moon and for a few second believed she was off her track

Mark Stevenson

I am a Snake

l am a snake

- I can smell with my tongue
- I feel rocks
- I smell dogs

I am feeling my tail with my head am a snake

Lake Spak Age 5, Wilowwind Kindergarten

Midwestern Midwinter Highways

stationed on fence posts every five miles or so e red-tailed hawks urvey the harvested fields canning their domain recise poised positing eir moral impera

David Due

Nat

I have a cat her nam Is Nat she likes gnats She is not fat but she Is flat and that was The end of Nat.

> Chelsea Northam Age 9, Lucas Elementar 3rd Grade

